Description of the arts integration project:

All Kindergarten classes (6) will create a 3-D family tree in Visual Arts supported by social studies classroom learning of self and immediate family. Students will complete, as homework, a family tree drawing identifying family members. They have already connected with family members names in a math lesson counting letters in each name. Further investigation of the ME-WE relationship will be built into both classroom and arts learning.
Integration will take place January through mid February.

Question?
Where are the interdisciplinary layers in this unit?
Identify where the learning overlaps and discuss opportunity to strengthen the unit through relationships within the learning process.
